

'Put on the spot': Exploring collaboration and development in the EAP post-observation conference

EAP has reached a turning point. Formalised qualifications are gaining currency. Now is the time to join the dots and exploit all the opportunities for continued development available to us. All too often, the observation process is underexploited, yet the post-observation conference is a welcome chance to discuss teaching, challenge beliefs and bring about reconstruction of knowledge and development.